Evaluations conducted by IRI Worldwide show a positive correlation between a visit to an ASDA cash machine, seeing a branded campaign on that machine and then the sales of the product being promoted. Not only do cash machines influence purchasing behavior on the featured product but there is also a halo effect on ROI and sales uplift on the brand as a whole and even on other brands within the company's portfolio. This is why so many brands include ATMs as part of their shopper marketing campaign schedules throughout the year. Whatever you're promoting (NPD, seasonal, competition, brand awareness and so on), we can help you plan a successful campaign to deliver results.
